HR LEADERSHIP IN A WORLD OF ACCELERATING CHANGE

The world is going through unprecedented business and technological changes. But one thing remains constant: people. As people experts, HR leaders should be at the forefront guiding organizations through these changes. But many HR organizations are stuck in largely administrative roles.

This session discusses HR leadership concepts drawn from Dr. Hunt's book Common Sense Talent Management. We review important changes and dangerous myths about the future of work and its impact on HR leadership, and explore methods for designing and deploying strategic HR methods built for the future while leveraging the lessons of the past.

THE 7 DEADLY SINS OF BUSINESS TRANSFORMATION

Who could predict the banking crises, transformative customer expectations or even national revolts? Those who could see the future designed their solutions to serve the markets of the future. As we stare at the future trying to find direction, the challenge comes when we notice that we face structural changes in markets which we cannot predict using only the data of the past. What is our "true north" to guide our direction?

This presentation will bring into focus the challenge and the opportunity of transforming your business. You will hear 7 sins to avoid in transforming your business and learn to utilize principles that rely on personal transformation to fuel business transformation. Above all, you will find a new lens to view business transformation.
